playlet, called "A Duel of Hearts." It is one of the good things of an unusually entertaining bill. Mr. Foreman is a well known comedian, having starred in both drama and musical comedy. His first tour as a star was with The Foreman-Morton combination, starring jointly with that sterling and well known actor. Charles Morton. The following season he starred in an Irish drama entitled The Banshee, written by Octavia Richie of Knoxville, Tenn. He, had such people in the cast as by Octavia Richie of Knoxville, Tehn. He had such people in the cast as Marie Cahill, Cecelia Crisp and others who have since won fame. He was then considered the youngest star on the American stage. He also starred for two seasons with Augustus Pitou's Across the Potomac, with a company made up of such wall known artists as Ciberies Richman and Amelia Ring. as Charies Richman and Amelia Bingham in the cast. Since then he has been starred or featured with Bartley Campbell's Siberia, Scott Marbles' Diamond Breaker, The Ragged Hero, Hollosy Kiranfy's Around the World in Eighty Days, and many others. He has also made a reputation in the leading vandeville theaters of America and Europe. He will never forget his first experience in the wast if each of the barber shop in a one-story frame building. The door of the story frame ing vaudeville theaters of America and Europe. He will never forget his first experience in the wast, it was in the days of early vaudeville, he was to open at the Theater Comique, at Kansas City; the James and Younger boys dropped in to see the show, and the white globes which were on the chandellers lighting the theater were very tempting to them as targets. They began at once to establish records for themselves as good shots, much to the dismay of young Foreman, who was on the stage at the time with others. He

Major Peyton Rises to Combat

Flight of Southern Oratory, A New Yorker who seldom gets into the suburts was called as a witness in a suit in the Flushing court recently. The rural aspect of the pince interested him. Particularly he was much amused by some of the strange types among the jurymen and lawyers. He and a representative of the law firm on his side were sitting in one of the court rooms waiting for the end of the case before tights on the calendar when his companion said:

"That old fellow with the heart who

"That old fellow with the heard who conducting the defense reminds me is conducting the defense reminds me of a case I once heard tried in the mountains of Kentucky.

"For lack of a real court room the judge sat in a big room on the second floor of the hotel. The jury of stolld mountainners had been listening to a dreary round of testimony in a suit over a lost suit of clothes valued ab $10. Finally it came to the summing up. Colonel Stryker for the defense at the close of a heated argument closed in this way:

"Gentlemen, in puttin' my case in yough hands, I wish to wahn you all against my learned opponent, Majah Peyton. He is procably, gentlemen, the most powerful orator with the most most powerful orator with the mos ost powerful orator with the most sectious arguments of any speakah in dis fall Southland of oughs. He is especious, gentlemen, that if he were bring a pine bo'ad into this court om and boah a hole in it with a gimlet be could put a monkey through that hole without youah seeing him do it.' "Presently came Major Peyton's turn. He said:

"Gentlemen, I wish to deny at the outset what my esteemed friend on the othah side has said about me in his adothah side has said about me in his address. I am not, geniclemen the most pow'ful orator in this fair Southland. Colonel Stryker, gentlemen, has that distinction. I also wish to deny that I could bore a hole through a pine plank and put a monkey through it without yoh're seela' me. To prove it, gentlemen, after recess I am goin' to bring a pine bo'd into this coh't room and bore a hole through it with a gimilet. I will promise then to put my esteemed friend through that hole. And you shall all see me do it."

STATE AUTOMOBILE OWNERS Plan to Be Represented in Hartford in Opposing Unfavorable Laws.

Plans for satisfactory representa tion of Connecticut automobile own ers' interests in the event of opposiion to the present law before th islature at Hartford were well airso and the plan of action explained, at the conference called at New Haver Friday afternoon by the Automobil-club of New Haven, according to the New Haven Register.

C. H. Gillette, vice president of the Hartford Auto club and secretary of the Connecticut Automobile associa tion, attended as the authorized del gate of the Auto clubs of New Brit-ain, Litchfield, Bridgeport, Rockville, Willimantic, Hartford and Stamford, Willimantic, Hartford and Stamford, all these clubs being members of the state association, a fact which the club was not aware of. Secretary Gillette explained at length a carefully perfected plan of the state, association to prevent hostille legislation, and as a result of his explanation of the state club's scope, the Auto club of New Haven will probably join in shortly.

OYSTER GROUNDS. About 70,000 Acres of State Property Distributed.

The attention of the people of Connecticut having been directed to the state oyster ground question by the vigorous message of Governor Woodruff, it is of interest to note that there are now nearly 70,000 acres of state oyster ground owned by private igdividuals. Some of the biggest owners are as follows:

Henry C. Rowe, New Haven, 10,806 acres,

THE NEED OF THE HOUR.

We've trembled in the presence of the dery untamed phrase;
We've heard tumultuous speeches; we have stood with glassy gaze.
And watched the gathering frowns that seemed to cloud an anxious world Prepared to do some dodging when the thunderhold is hurled.
The milk of human gentleness seems turning into curds—
Will someone please oblige us with a few

The mighty din of battle is impressive there's no doubt: But we weary of the echo of the victor's mighty shout;
The ugly monosyllable with short and victous bark.
Makes men afraid to travel in the day-light or the dark.
We long for purling streamlets or the melody of birds—with a few -Washington Star.
